Summary: Rikki gets sent to Camp Greenlake in America. Will she want to leave after her 18 months?

Holes and Water

Rikki Chadwick has been in trouble before, but not like this. She high-jacked a car, robbed a mini-mart, and stabbed a man.

What pushed her over the edge?

One word: Father

She was ok with the abuse. She put up with it, her whole life. She lost her older brother, Robbie, all because he was trying to protect her. Her mother deserted her. HER OWN MOTHER DIDN'T CARE, her mother only cared about Chad and Annie. Chad was Rikki's twin, but you couldn't tell now because Rikki dyed her hair all the time which damaged her hair and made it a pale blonde and not a dirty blonde.

Rikki didn't have a perfect life, but it was close to perfect. Maybe she had to deal with abuse, but she had a loving boyfriend and loyal friends. When one night her father took it too far, she couldn't take it any more. She ran away. The only way to get away was to rob, steal, and cheat. She had a plan. Do anything to get away. Even if it meant almost killing someone. As long as she didn't get caught, she didn't care. She got better and better, so she got more care-free which caused her down fall.

She went to court and was given two chooses, Camp Greenlake in America or jail. Little did she know that Camp Greenlake was a boys-only camp. She didn't care. She packed up her bags, getting ready for a 18 months at the 'wonderful' camp.
